

FEATURED AUTHOR

Armando Rodriguez, author of
Anything's Possible!: What do you want to be when you grow up?

About the Book

You think about it all the time; what do you want to be when you grow up? Some of you know what you want, but sometimes, for whatever reason we lose focus. This book can be your guide. You don't have to wait until you're older to start planning what you want to do. Why not start now? You're future is important, although it may seem far away. This book dares you to believe that anything is possible.

About the Author

My name is Armando Rodriguez. My sixteen years as an Elementary Educator has taken me from Brooklyn, NY, to Florida, and now Brentwood, Long Island. My experience, mostly as a 5th grade teacher, has taught me that all students are looking for someone to tell them that anything's possible.

Testimonials

“Armando Rodriguez’s, Anything’s Possible! allows young people to take ownership of their dreams and the future. The book serves as a role model for youngsters who may be at a critical point in their lives. It is a voice of reason and wisdom at a much needed time in today’s society.”

—Dr. Aurelia L. Henriquez,
Assistant Superintendent for Elementary Education,
Brentwood School District

“This is a very inspirational book. It’s an important guide for young readers to help them achieve their dreams. It’s a must read for every young reader and it wouldn’t hurt older readers, like myself, so that we can remember the importance of having a dream and following the steps towards achieving that dream.”

—Robinson Ortiz,
NYC Public School Teacher,
18 Year Veteran

“Anything’s Possible! is a wonderful, kid friendly narrative nonfiction book. I can appreciate how this picture book carefully encourages and teaches children how to reach for the stars ... This book is perfect for that young adult who needs support to start on their dreams early in life.”

—Karen Avila-Feliciano,
5th Grade Teacher,
Brentwood School District

“If you’re the kind of kid that has a dream, this practical book will motivate you to chase it.”

—Dr. Kevin Stevens
School Psychologist
